DINING ROOMS

The Long Room

The elegant room was named after Sir William Long who, in 1816, created Marwell Hall as we see it today. Graced by tall mullioned windows, impressive fireplace and decorative cornice, this large room, entered by grand doorways, makes the perfect setting for your dinner.

Maximum Capacity is 30 seated around 1 table, 60 on round tables of up to 12 and 20 in a square shape.

The Woodlock Room

This airy room, with its deep bay mullioned window, is named in honour of Walter Woodlock who built Marwell Hall in the early 14th Century. The medieval hall was a timber structure which remains the core of the building today. Over many centuries different owners, who all played a part in our history, have added rooms to the hall. In the 21st century these find a new use as a delightful setting for your private dining event.

Maximum capacity is 20 seated around 1 table, 30 seated at round tables and 15 in a square.

The Seymour Library

The ornate fireplace of this distinguished room bears the coat of arms and motto of the Seymour family. Marwell Hall was owned in the mid 1500's by Sir Henry Seymour. He was the brother of Jane, Henry VIII's third wife. The room is partly panelled and lined with library shelves and the attractive ceiling has appropriate decorative details. With two large windows and impressive doorways, this room has the right atmosphere for your dining occasion.

Maximum capacity is 20 seated around 1 table, 30 seated at round tables and 15 in a square.

The Marquee

Complete with outdoor seating, bar, dancefloor private entrance and fully lined structure with hard floor and chandelier lighting, From June – September our marquee provides the perfect setting for larger parties of up to 120 guests for a seated meal or informal evening event.
