Introduction

Welcome to the latest edition of the international studbook for Grevy's zebra (Equus grevyi). In October 2023 the studbook reached the Milestone of 4000 registered animals since records began. As always at this point, I would like to take the opportunity to thank all the registrars, curators and keepers who provide updates throughout the year and answer my questions or requests for changes and corrections. It is down to them that the studbook data are as complete and correct as they can be.

I am very delighted and relieved that I can report to you that the extreme and prolonged drought in Kenya that was affecting the survival chances of the wild Grevy's zebra population, came to an end in March 2023. We do not know fully yet what effect the drought had on the population numbers but the most recent national survey, only two months ago, should shed light on this and I will report more to you in the next studbook. Conservation efforts have carried on during and since the drought and you can read more on this on the following pages.

At this point I would just like to say to all supporters of Grevy's zebra conservation: Thank you! for making this work possible.

PLEASE, WOULD ALL REGISTRARS (HOLDERS AND OWNERS) HAVE A QUICK LOOK AT THE INFORMATION FOR THEIR ANIMALS AND INSTITUTIONS AND REPORT ANY MISTAKES AND OMISSIONS TO ME? THOSE WHO ARE NOT ON ZIMS, PLEASE ENTER THE INTERNATIONAL STUDBOOK NUMBERS INTO YOUR RECORDS TO MAKE FUTURE COMMUNICATIONS EASIER? THANK YOU!

Ex situ Population:

The total number of Grevy's zebra in zoological organisations on 31st December 2023 was 176.307.0 (483) in 120 institutions in 24 countries.

Asia	13.9.0 (22); 9 institutions
Europe	79.152.0 (231); 57 institutions
Central America	7.16.0 (23); 3 institutions

Wild Status:

The IUCN reassessed the majority of equid species in 2016 and The IUCN Red List 2017 lists Grevy's zebra as Endangered A2acd ver 3.1; assessed by Rubenstein, D., Low Mackey, B., Davidson, ZD, Kebede, F. & King, S.R.B. For a distribution map, please see the IUCN map on the following page;

Rubenstein, D., Low Mackey, B., Davidson, ZD, Kebede, F. & King, S.R.B. 2016. Equus grevyi. The IUCN Red List of Threatened Species 2016: e.T7950A89624491. <https://dx.doi.org/10.2305/IUCN.UK.2016-3.RLTS.T7950A89624491.en>. Accessed on 08 March 2024.

Grevy's zebra are legally protected in Ethiopia, and since 1977 have been protected by a hunting ban in Kenya. The most recent published figures of a national survey estimated there to be 2812 ± 163 individuals in Kenya (Rubenstein, Parham et al. 2018).

The Grevy's zebra conservation projects are supported, and often made possible by the continued funding and support of the global zoo community, in particular Grevy's zebra holding-institutions in Europe and North America. Grevy's zebra conservation work in 2023 was dominated by the terrible drought Kenya, its wildlife and people suffered. Despite this, other activities continued as you can see in the report below. While The studbook gives only a summary of conservation efforts. For more reports, please visit the websites of Marwell Wildlife (<https://www.marwell.org.uk/wp-content/uploads/2022/10/Grevys-zebra-Conservation-Report-2022.pdf>) and Grevy's Zebra Trust (<http://www.grevyszebratrust.org>).

Drought Relief and Water Management

Following the seemingly never-ending drought in the Horn of Africa and the enormous efforts to support the Grevy's zebra population throughout as well as other wildlife and local communities, in March 2023 the rains finally came. By the end of the month most areas had received plenty of rainfall and the pressures of the drought were receding.

Within days of the first drops, the animals had dispersed and did no longer visit feeding points that had become their places of food and relief for so many months. This suggested that they found enough water and grazing elsewhere. Within a short space of time the northern Kenya landscape turned quite green (Pic.01).

We do not know the full extent yet to which the huge effort to provide hay and nutritional supplements, made possible by the generosity of zoos, other organisations, and individuals around the world, succeeded in saving pregnant and lactating females as well as the foals of the drought years. However, scouts have reported seeing heavily pregnant Grevy's zebra and females with newborn foals in many areas, so we are very hopeful. The most recent national survey (January 2024) should reveal more once the data have been analysed. More on this in the next studbook.

Valuable lessons have been learned from the feeding efforts. As the drought went on for such a long time, it became clear that it was not enough to just provide hay, but the animals needed mineral and other nutritional supplements given their poor body conditions. GZT, together with KWS and veterinary experts, worked out what, how much, and how to provide the best supplements to support the Grevy's zebra weakening body condition. Together they investigated any death and found that the animals suffered from particularly heavy worm infestations during the drought. This was addressed with a deworming protocol they designed. The experiences were further shared with the Marwell feeding teams, so that all involved in the feeding efforts are much better prepared for the next drought. (Pics. 02 & 03)

GZ collaring

The end of the drought allowed the landscape and the animals to recover. Once the animals were back to a healthy body condition, the Grevy's Zebra Technical Committee were at last in a position to carry out the collaring of 20 Grevy's zebra as requested by KWS back in 2020.

Most collars were deployed on Grevy's zebra in areas of the LAPSSET* corridor, a large-scale linear infrastructure project that forms part of Kenya's growth and development plan. It currently is in the design phase and will cut directly through Grevy's zebra habitat in northern Kenya. These infrastructure projects are recognised as one of the greatest emerging threats to the Grevy's zebra population in Kenya. Through the use of satellite-telemetry, GZTC aim to identify which habitats are critical for Grevy's zebra distribution, dispersal and movement, and why these areas are important. This information will then be used to mitigate the threats to the species by informing planning and conservation management decisions for Grevy's zebra and their habitat at local and national scales.

A further two collars were deployed in the Baragoi area, where little is known about the movements of Grevy's zebra.

A collaring team was put together comprising members of KWS (vets, scientists, security personnel), WRTI (scientist), Marwell Wildlife (scientific supervision, photography) and GZT (locating Grevy's zebra, scientific data collection, photography) with Marwell and GZT providing the collars (paid for by the Association of Zoos and Aquariums, the Leiden Conservation Foundation and the Kolmården Foundation). Marwell provided training on the GPS collars to KWS staff in advance of the mission.

*The Lamu Port-South Sudan-Ethiopia Transport (LAPSSET) Corridor is a flagship project for Kenya under its development blueprint, Vision 2030. It includes a standard gauge railway, crude oil pipeline, electricity transmission line, highways and a 100km-wide LAPSSET economic zone, which cut directly across core Grevy's zebra habitat.

Getting close to a Grevy's zebra takes a lot of energy and resources, so we took the opportunity to learn as much as we could, collecting samples for the lab, morphometrics measurements, and stripe ID photos, as well as the first weight measurements taken from wild zebras (Pic.05-08).

Community-based monitoring, using SMART (Spatial Monitoring and Reporting Tool) technology.

Once again, monitoring efforts increased in the far north with Marwell scouts walking nearly 15,800 km during 2,413 patrols (both up from 2022). Occasions of observation and actual numbers of Grevy's zebra were much increased. Data show that the number of Grevy's recorded in 2023 was more than double the numbers in 2022. However, this can mostly be explained by an expansion of monitoring to two new areas (Kisima, where most Grevy's were sighted, and Gatap).

All the scouts' GPS phones are using SMART Mobile technology. As this application is often updated, the scouts attend regular sessions to train on any new aspects as well as refreshing their existing skills on phone recording and camera trap setup. This year, the training was combined with a wildlife exposure tour. While the scouts are in the wild daily, they rarely get to see certain types of wildlife, especially close up. An elder who accompanied the group on the trip told them how inspired he had been. He is going to pass stories to other elder representatives and his community too, about what he has seen. He encouraged the scouts to initiate the conversation concerning conservation within their communities, since they are ambassadors to teach their friends, elders, and families to conserve and embrace conservation. Activities like this increase awareness and understanding in the communities that share their landscape with Grevy's zebra and other wildlife.

After 15 years of paper-based data collection, GZT has now also transitioned their Grevy's zebra Scouts to the SMART data collection and all their community teams are using it. This transition enables automatic uploading of field data into a centralised dashboard, facilitating quick and efficient analysis by the research and impact teams.

It will also make it a lot easier to compare data collected by Marwell and GZT scouts in different areas. We are working closely together with our partners to get the most out of this technology. The aim is that GZT, Marwell and potentially Lewa Wildlife Conservancy all use the same SMART functionality and collect the same data in their respective areas allowing easy comparison and merging of data for all areas used by Grevy zebra. Therefore, the transitioning by GZT is a most welcome development.

SMART is an open source and freely available software application (<https://smartconservationtools.org>).

Rangelands Programme

Last year the studbook reported on GZT's focus on land restoration. Here they are giving an update on this: Breakthrough milestone with regenerative grazing!

At GZT, we prioritise indigenous knowledge on grazing, and blend it with other livestock management tools that complement these traditions. Regenerative grazing ensures that livestock are managed to regenerate rather than deplete grasslands. This is done through controlling the timing of grazing and movement patterns to avoid overgrazing. We have successfully trialled regenerative grazing in Westgate and Kalama Conservancies where land was set aside to serve as a learning site for the community. Our goal was to scale this grazing to settlement areas, which is far more complex due to the number of people and livestock who are involved. After years of building inclusive community ownership through voluntary village-based committees, this goal was finally realized in July 2023 with 3,700 cattle brought together to graze 21,600 hectares over four months. Regenerative grazing also reduces displacement of wildlife by livestock herds, and huge herds of up to 200 Grevy's zebra (Pic.11) were seen grazing peacefully in the community grazing blocks. Many people came to witness this grazing in action and were inspired to trial it themselves.

Grassland Champions

Our teams of Grassland Champions (Pic.12) have continued to construct semi-circular bunds, a visually impactful restoration strategy, with bunds trapping run-off and sediment and fostering the establishment of forbs and grasses. GZT has facilitated construction of 7,767 bunds across 18 sites in Kalama, Westgate, Meibae, and Namunyak, and 201 bunds across five sites in our Laisamis region.

Conservation Outreach:

Communities

Both the GZT and Marwell teams hold regular meetings with the communities and their elders to learn about their concerns, ideas and problems. In March this year, Marwell convened a meeting in Sarima Village to speak with the Turkana community on Grevy's zebra conservation and security of wildlife around the area. This was necessitated by an incident last year where a Grevy's zebra was shot by members of the community. The chief of this female lead community, Madam Beatrice, agreed that security issue is a collective responsibility that everybody must embrace. She assured the Marwell team of full community support from now on to conserve wildlife and fight the criminals. The hope is that meetings of this nature increase the cooperation and feeling of inclusion and ownership of communities.

Lchekutis / Herders Outreach

Herders are those children who look after their families' livestock and cannot attend regular school sessions. Marwell is trying to provide them some light conservation education sessions in the evenings after they have come home. For several years, these children had missed out on education. Unlike the schools, they did not restart conservation education sessions after the COVID pandemic as the drought forced them to move long distances away from home to search for water and pasture for their animals. In May 2023, at last, the first outreach session with 28 herders from Keleswa (12 herders) and Anderi (16 herders) was conducted. The children talked about implications of the drought for livestock, wildlife and themselves and their families back at home.

Although most of these herders have never stepped foot in a classroom before, they are very wise using traditional knowledge passed down to them from older generations.

The children contributed a lot of thoughts to the session including:

- Importance of elders setting buffer zones for better grazing management
- Embracing conservation
- Improvement of phone network coverage - saying a better network allows them to send messages or photos home or to Marwell easily for quick response in case of emergency.
- Illegal guns to be taken by government to reduce insecurity.
- One herder also added that if their families could embrace farming and selling of fresh vegetables and fruits as an additional source of income rather than depending on livestock alone, this would help their mothers to venture into business and earn extra cash.

- The children showed a strong preference towards education (most herders said they would provide education of their future children and change of career). One girl who is not allowed to go to school said: I have realized now that the only thing you won't lose is education; everything will die except education.

Cooperation with KWS:

Marwell have grown their working relationship with KWS during the drought, when poaching of wildlife, especially Grevy's zebra and ostrich, increased drastically in the far north and conflict resolution became particularly important. The KWS wardens are crucial to any wildlife incidents that are reported by our scouts and also provide us with security during our field trips.

Pictures 17 & 18: Poached Grevy's zebra and the KWS vet team treating it © Marwell

In April KWS Marsabit and Samburu County partnered with Marwell Wildlife to undertake several community workshops in Gatap and Olturot areas. One of the core functions of KWS is to provide wildlife education and extension services to the public so they support wildlife conservation. They therefore held sessions to discuss different issues facing conservation and challenges emerging in day-to-day life. The changing lifestyle has led communities to disconnect from matters of conservation of wildlife and its habitat. Marwell's belief is that through education, empowerment and collaboration everyone can play a role in conserving and protecting our environment. The warden encouraged the community to consider establishing a conservancy or conservation committee managed by them so that other partners can work with them with ease.

The collaring operation in September was a further example of close collaboration (see above).

Building in country capacity for conservation

Both Marwell and GZT provide scholarships and bursaries to Kenyan students on a regular basis. It is particularly satisfying when those students then work with and for Grevy's zebra conservation. Two great examples are Lizbeth Mate (Project Manager) and Erita Naanyu Lesoloyia (Field Programme Manager and Teacher) who began working with Marwell following their master's degrees and are now running the day-to-day activities in country.

The latest student to come back into the fold began her career under GZT:

"I am here because of Grevy's, so I have to take care of Grevy's first." – Mercy Neepe

One of the former GZT Grevy's Zebra Scholarship recipients, Mercy Neepe, has wanted to be a pilot since she was a child. Seeing her immense potential and drive, GZT was able to connect her to funding to pursue this dream. Mercy now has her Private Pilot's License and is currently in training to receive her Commercial Pilot's License. Only 20 years old, she is the first (and currently only) female pilot from her region of the country. Mercy is very clear that her pilot's licence is not just for her, but also for the benefit of her community and Grevy's zebra. She also wants to show other girls in her community what is possible when you dream big!

Grevy's Zebra Trust's New Five-Year Strategy

The future of the endangered Grevy's zebra is intrinsically linked with the resilience of indigenous and local communities in northern Kenya, where solutions for Grevy's zebra must be solutions for people. In 2023, GZT finalised a new five-year strategy, which builds upon our successes and learnings since 2018. While recognising that they are working in an environment with immense challenges, their results so far are reassuring and provides confidence that work over the next five years will scale and deepen the impact. To move towards the ultimate goal of increasing Grevy's zebra numbers, GZT are focused on the following strategic goals:

- Value Grevy's: ownership of Grevy's zebra conservation is embedded within indigenous and local communities.
- Understand Grevy's: action is informed by accurate information on Grevy's zebra populations.
- Support Grevy's survival: immediate threats to Grevy's zebra are mitigated.
- Regenerate rangelands: healthy rangelands support people, livestock, and wildlife.
- Connect landscapes: community and Grevy's zebra needs are integrated into land use planning.

Achieving these goals depends on strong trust-based collaboration and support, and GZT are deeply grateful to all partners as they expand their conservation footprint and embark on addressing new emerging threats to Grevy's zebra.

Explanations

All animals registered in the studbook have been issued with a unique studbook number. These numbers allow access to specimen information as well as genetic and demographic analysis for population management.

The regularity of contact (or the lack of contact) with holding institutions, is constantly monitored. If no information has been given for an individual for a considerable time and all efforts to receive information from an institution prove to be fruitless, all animals for this holder will be listed as "lost to follow up" and be removed from the published studbook.

Breeder Numbers (see example below): with the advanced options of recording and analysing information in ZIMS, breeder numbers will no longer be issued for new animals as this will only add unnecessary work for the registrars and the studbook keeper.

Studbook numbers have been issued to all animals, even if stillborn or miscarried. Please make sure you report stillbirths and miscarriages (even if you do not enter them in ZIMS though that would be preferable) to the studbook as these data inform the reproductive history and ability and may prove useful for future research projects.

Identification problems:

The problem of identification can occur in those collections where animals are run as a large herd in such a way that the dams of foals are not identifiable. In these cases "MULT" is used to indicate that the individual "Sire" or "Dam" are not known, but the overall group from which the parent animals derive are known.

Death and Post Mortem:

Upon the death of an animal, please provide a copy of the Post Mortem Report or a short statement of the cause of death to the Studbook Keeper at Marwell, so that any trends of diseases or other problems affecting the survival of the Grevys in captivity can be identified.

Studbook Legend

Stud#:	Animal's permanent studbook number. Studbook numbers may not always be assigned chronologically, due to animals being recorded as they become known to the Studbook Keeper.
Sex:	M for male, m for castrated male, F for female, cont if contracepted, neut if neutered, U for unknown sex
Birth Date:	Animal's birth date. A tilde mark, '~', before a date indicates that it is approximate. '??' indicates that the date is unknown.
Sire and Dam:	Studbook numbers for the animal's sire and dam. 'UNK' if unknown. 'MULT' if several candidates have been identified. 'WILD' if the sire or dam was considered to be wildcaught - this animal is a founder.
Location:	The institution holding the animal at the time. If the animal is no longer traceable by the Studbook Keeper, 'lrf' (lost-to-followup) will appear to the right of the last known location.
Date:	The date on which the event occurred. A tilde mark, '~', before a date indicates that it is approximate. '??' indicates that the date is unknown.
Local ID:	The identification assigned by the specimen's location, often its ISIS number, house number, or occasionally house name.
Event:	Capture, Birth, Transfer, Loan, Ownership change, Death or Release
Identifiers:	House Name, Transponder, Tag/Band, Tattoo, Ear Notch
